

His Majesty King Mohammed VI to meet with the US
President Barack Obama at the White House on November 22, 2013

At the invitation of the American President Barack Obama, His Majesty King Mohammed VI will pay a working visit to the United States on November 22, 2013.

This visit will highlight the long-standing friendship between the United States and the Kingdom of Morocco and strengthen the strategic partnership. It is also part of strengthening the historical and strategic ties between the two friendly countries for over two centuries, as well as the special relations between the White House and the Royal Palace.

The meeting of the two leaders will give a momentum to the partnership between the two parties in different areas and reinforce bilateral strategic dialogue. It will also be an occasion to discuss regional and international issues of shared interest, to foster coordination and cooperation and undertake joint initiatives to address the challenges facing the MENA region, and promote stability and development in Sub-Saharan Africa.